

Butterscotch Ice Cream Towers

INGREDIENTS:

- One box of 12 ice cream sandwiches
- 1 (3.4 oz) package of Jell-O Instant Butterscotch pudding mix
- 1 1/2 cups of cold milk
- 1 tub of Cool Whip topping
- 1 cup of chocolate chips
- 6 tablespoons of butter

DIRECTIONS:

- Make butterscotch filling first, and freeze overnight
- In a large bowl, beat together milk and pudding mix on high for 3 to 4 minutes until thick.
- Fold in 1/2 of the container of Cool Whip topping
- Put parchment paper in a small (I used a 9x9 square cake) pan, and spread pudding mixture even into container.
- Freeze overnight.
- To assemble, use a fluted square (I used a 2" inch square) cookie cutter to cut ice cream sandwiches. I got 2 squares from each sandwich. Return to freezer after cutting.
- Remove pudding mixture from freezer, lift out of pan using edges of parchment paper, and lay on a clean counter.
- Cut squares using the same cookie cutter (dip in warm water between cuts, if it becomes sticky), return to freezer.
- Assemble no more than one or 2 hours before serving, and keep frozen.
- Melt chocolate chips and butter together in the microwave in 30 second increments, stirring in between, until melted and smooth.
- Place an ice cream sandwich square on a plate, top with butterscotch filling square, top with a second ice cream sandwich square.
- Drizzle with melted chocolate (and I added a few butterscotch chips).
- Return to freezer and keep frozen until serving.
